

Press release

Argon Consulting strengthens its team with the appointment of
Jean-François Laget

Levallois-Perret, March 27, 2014 : Jean-François Laget has joined Argon Consulting, the leading consulting firm specialized in operational performance optimization, as Partner.

Since its creation in 2001, Argon Consulting has experienced significant and continued growth every year, with a revenue of approximately 20 million euros and a team of nearly 100 consultants.

"Jean- François Laget has joined Argon Consulting with a view to supporting the growth of the firm and strengthening its positioning on performance across the operations chain. Particularly, our competitive performance offering", said Yvan Salamon, President of Argon Consulting

Jean-François is a specialist in competitive performance programs with a focus on operational performance (R&D, Procurement, Manufacturing and Supply Chain). He has worked in Manufacturing (automotive, aeronautics, rail, materials, etc.), the Luxury industry and Pharmaceuticals.

Jean-François has spent 19 years in consulting. After starting out in 1995 in strategic consulting with CVA, in 2002 he co-founded Hemeria, a firm specialized in business competitiveness. In 2008, he became a partner at Olivier Wyman, which took over Hemeria. Then, in 2010, he joined the executive committee of Capgemini Consulting, where he was in charge of the Manufacturing and Pharmaceutical sectors.

Jean-François Laget is a graduate of Sup'Aéro, France, and holds an MBA from Groupe HEC, France.
